Anti-Aging Effects of Hydrolyzed Collagen Beverage with Herbal Extracts on Facial Skin: A Double-Blind, Randomized, Placebo-Controlled Trial

"This randomized, placebo-controlled clinical study provides scientific evidence for all the anecdotal reports of Collagen Elixir's skin health benefits."

- Dr. Eric Gumprich, Director of Research and Science and study co-author

Peer-Reviewed Published Study Results

Researchers designed a rigorous 4-week investigation using sophisticated imaging and detection technologies. The 60 adult study participants were randomly assigned to consume either Collagen Elixir or a placebo beverage daily for four weeks. No skin irritation or adverse reactions were reported with Collagen Elixir. Each study participant underwent extensive facial imaging and analyses before the study began and after four weeks of supplementation.

Key Findings

Consuming Collagen Elixir led to a reduction in measures of hyperpigmentation, including a reduction in both visible and UV spots compared to the participant's baseline measurements. Other benefits included improvements in skin tone, with a significant increase in skin brightness after four weeks of supplementation with Collagen Elixir.

Overall, consuming Collagen Elixir resulted in widespread skin health benefits;
100% of subjects having increased collagen levels
90% with increased moisture
97% with greater elasticity
70% of subjects exhibiting fewer wrinkles after four weeks of supplementation.
